

#4 NVA #5

#6

Athletic	N	muscular	wimpy
Resilient	A	flexible	stiff
Gracious	A	courteous	rude
Competitive	A	challenging	easy
Honorable	A	honest	dis-honest
Opponent	N	rival	friends
Victory	Y	won	lose
Defeat	V	lose	win
Pride	A	Proud	shame
Compete	N	participate	drop out?

1. I'm not very athletic but I am fit.

2. I am resilient when competing against other opponents.

3. I am a gracious victor when I like the sport.

4. Yellow is a really competitive team against Red, Blue and Green.

5. When the opposing team wins, I am honor-able, but will not accept defeat.

6. Green and Blue have had the latest victories, but I think Yellow's luck is going to change.

7. I have much pride for Yellow no matter if they win or lose.

8. I am magnanimous towards opposing teams.

Word Work

Athletic

#1

Motivation

In the Olympics Athletics is the most funneled in sport in the Olympics.

Compete

opponent

Victory

Defeat

Motivation is key to winning in a competitive atmosphere.

magnanimous

determination

endurance

discipline

It is hard to get picked into a Olympic country and compete for them.

Never underestimate an opponent by their size because it might be a disadvantage but it can become an advantage.

To claim victory over America in the Olympic games is hard and comes with a big challenge.

Defeat is always a lesson on improving your skills to claim victory later in your career.

Being magnanimous in the Olympics ~~are~~ or paralympics is more of a big deal than winning.

Being determined to win will give you success because you want to beat the challenge.

Practice everyday makes you more endurance then you have more than enough stamina to win.

Having discipline with opponents is more important than winning.